FLAMES TRAP FIREMEN AT LYNN BLAZE

A fire which threatened to wipe out the entire plant of the Lyth Gas Company shortly before noon to-day, destroyed two of the company's buildings at the plant and caused damage amounting to seventeen buildings of the plant and caused damage amounting to $5,000.

The fire was most spectacular. Explosions occurred frequently during its progress and dense volumes of smoke hung over that section of the city.

SEVERAL FIREMEN OVERCOME
Several firemen were overcome. At one

...twelve women were trapped in an "exhaust house" and were rescued by one of their men on the outside chopping a hole in the roof of the building, through which they escaped.

The Bee started in reform house. This building is the office of seventeen others. It is filled with reformers for making gas and with tanks of tar and gas. The building is connected with the "exhaust house" by a twenty-foot subway.

The fire was discovered at 11:30 o'clock. It was then burning fiercely in the waterfront house. Before the firemen arrived several explosions occurred when the flames reached the tanks of tar and gas.

The firemen fought desperately to prevent the flames from spreading to the nearby Tugboat Tunnel docks in Charleston to Commonwealth pier in South Boston. This decision was reached to-day, after a conference between the railroad people interested and the officials of the steamship line.

The information comes from a reliable source. From the same source it was learned that plans are now being drawn for the erection of huge passenger sheds on the Commonwealth pier.

The firemen turned their attention to this building. They directed several streams into it, and a squad of men entered. A few moments after they got inside the flames shot up into the building, having traveled and fireman John McKenlie seized an axe, clambered to the roof of the building and chopped a hole in it. The twelve men within were able to climb out. In the meantime the fire was burning fiercely in the petrol house. The smoke was very dense, with in the burning tar. Within a short time after the fire started one of the tanks of tar exploded, and the burning fluid was scattered in every direction.

Narrow Escapes.

James Rooney, one of the firemen, was overcome and was treated by a physician.

Frank Allen and James A. Kennedy, employees of the gas company, who were at work in the retrofit house when the fire started, barely escaped with their lives. Both men were operators when they got to the air.

BROTHER WILL SEE DECIES WED

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Among the guests who will attend the wedding of Miss Vivian Gould, daughter of George J. Gould and Lord Douglas, next Wednesday, will be the bridegroom's younger brother, the Hon. William Arthur Brewster, whose marriage to Miss Florence Miller almost ten years ago set his brother the example of wedding an American bride.

Mr. Brewster lives at Providence, where he is a salesman for an investment security company, and has a reputation as a shrewd business man. He is thirty-three years of age, and served on the staff of Lord Roberts during the Boer war.

"My wife and I are going to New York next Sunday," said Mr. Bedford. "We will attend the wedding rehearsal as well as the real ceremony."

See This "Home On Water" At The Boat Show
EVERYTHING you have dreamed a craving boat could be—your wildest in the new 36 foot Kated Deck Racine Muskegon Cruiser for 1911 at the Motor Boat Show. She will go anywhere there is two foot six inches of water, and you can take your friends on this boat with cruising accommodations for eight, stateroom, owner's stateroom, and cockpit holding ten. The galley is big, there are fresh water tanks for salt water cruising, ice box, surplus storage tanks and all—a real home on water—indeed, of all boats on earth. She will go 400 miles on $10.00 worth of gasoline. In her engine room you will find a powerful motor of the latest type, four cylinder, four cycle, self-starting,—developing 25 to 30 H. P.—so simple that even a novice will have no trouble. Everything that goes with a boat is included, dinghy, lights, anchor, standing top, cushions, signal mast and fittings, power whistle, fog bell, life preserver, boat hook, stove, removable table, sink, folding mail storage, mirror, etc.,—sounds like a marine catalogue, doesn't it? There are few extras to buy on this boat. And the price—other builders with the limited capacity and old fashioned methods would have to ask $1,500 to $2,000, but our price is $2,500 for the whole outfit. This is the sensation of the boating year. The secret is perfect organization and the biggest boat factory on earth. Many boats make low prices—we build many boats.

I will, my dry goods business, which is about $2,000 a year, located in New Mass. The business growing 20% in New York is in a good business locality. I am looking for a partner. There are at present in the vicinity two big cotton mills, with a great deal more trade than any young man experienced can handle a good deal with a capital of about $75,000. I desire to the proprietor F. BERNARD, 15, New Bedford, Mass.
